
MAKING A BETTER IMPRESSION LIVE AND ONLINE

An image presentation by
Leah Morrigan

WHAT IS IMAGE?

Everything about us sends messages out to the world. This is our image. It is transmitted through our appearance, our behaviour, and our communication; it manifests in our presentation and influences whether people will trust us or not.

The consistency, clarity, and genuineness of our messages will influence the degree to which people trust us, and this has professional implications.

WHY DOES IT MATTER?

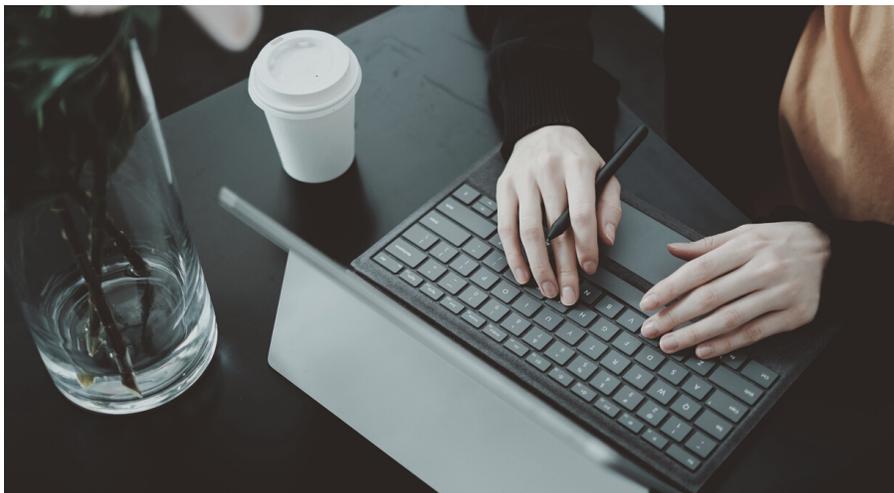

In an unsteady, lockdown-prone reality, our window to the world is through our digital devices. Through these devices, our digital image is created and this becomes a part of our identity, our reputation, and eventually, our brand.

To be aware of what as well as how we communicate through our digital window is a powerful advantage.

AUDIENCE FEEDBACK

"Leah provided an exceptional presentation filled with vital information for anyone in any field. I found myself immediately drawn in and hope I can learn from people like Leah throughout my career."

"Leah gave many great points in her presentation, many to which I am taking and implementing into my everyday life from this point forward."

"Leah utilized her own experiences and built off of real-life scenarios that allowed us to genuinely grasp what she was saying. I am currently working towards a career in marketing and the topics Leah brought up correlated directly."

"Leah's presentation was extremely captivating and fun... She made the whole talk super engaging."

"Since Leah's presentation, my outlook about my image has changed and I am now so much more conscious about the words I use and the things I do... Since being more mindful of this, my relationships with people are improving."

LEAH MORRIGAN

Leah blends art, science, and communications into her work as a professional image advisor. She comes from a unique and eclectic background with experience in business, academia, not-for-profit, media, production, clothing and costume design, and writing and editing.

She is a certified image consultant and the first woman in Canada to specialize in men's image. Leah works with business, academic, medical, political, and entrepreneurial professionals to help them find their edge and present at their best.

Leah has written extensively about her image work, clothing and costume, colour theory, textiles, and masculinity and has been featured in major Canadian media. Her opinion is often sought around election times.

Progressing from writer to editor, Leah currently serves on the national executive board of Editors Canada, and operates Polished Copy Editing, specializing in non-fiction editing.
